We do not host websites.

We design and build websites, but we do not host websites. You may host your website with whomever you wish, but if you do not host with Xneelo we cannot follow up with issues you may have with your hosting provider. Xneelo's basic package costs R99 pm and will be suitable for all but the Gold package.

No bank account, no website.

We cannot accommodate clients who do not have a bank account, because your hosting company requires a debit order on your bank account. Also, if you do not have access to a laptop or desktop computer, you will not be able to evaluate the laptop/desktop version of your website.

General:

We require payment in two stages. The first invoice be sent before we begin and the second will be sent after completion of the website and before it is uploaded to your domain. We need ALL photos and information that you want on your website, to determine whether everything is in order, before we send the first invoice. We need as many photos as you can provide. We will not be able to publish them all, we will select the most suitable for publication. We also need the text you want to see on your website. We can assist with this, but we need something to work with. When we are happy that we have what we need to begin, we will send the first invoice.

When the first invoice has been paid, we begin the project. This will be the commencement date, and the project will take between 7 and 14 days to complete. During the course of building your website we will assist you in determining a domain name, or web address, where your website can be found on the World Wide Web. We will then register your domain on your behalf. We will need all your details to complete this registration. The domain will be ready before the project is complete.

When the project is complete, we will upload your website to a temporary sub domain for review, and send you the location where it can be found. This is when you check the site and advise us of any corrections that must be made. Please note, if a "Contact Us" form was part of your specifications, it will not work here, it will only work after uploading to your domain.

When you are satisfied that everything is in order, we will send you the second invoice. After the second invoice has been paid, the site will be removed from our preview sub domain and uploaded to your domain.
